Our Special Response Team was invited to participate as a Quick Reaction Team on the All Hazards Committee of the NCAA National Championship Football game that was being held at the Mercedes-Benz Stadium in Atlanta, GA. The team’s reputation among the other tactical teams in the Metro-Atlanta area granted us this opportunity to serve in this capacity. Only a select number of tactical teams received this invitation, and we were the only one from our judicial circuit. Our assignment was to provide an immediate tactical response to any critical incident that may arise during the multitude of events surrounding the game that weekend. We provided assistance on two separate days during this event. Our participation also led to us being invited to assist during Super Bowl LIII in early 2019.
“Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA) conducted our third yearly inspection of our critical standards for law enforcement excellence. CALEA verified that the Peachtree City Police Department continues to exceed the Commissions’ state-of-the-art standards as part of a voluntary process to remain accredited.” In the United States, only 5% of the 18,000 police departments can achieve CALEA accreditation. Of those 5%, only 10% achieve Accreditation with Excellence.

The amount of opportunities for these classes have increased 114%.”

• seven pursuits were originally initiated for traffic or dangerous driver violations.
• two pursuits were initiated for felony offenses.

“Throughout 2018 we continued the practice of bringing committees of officers together to review pursuits. These are excellent opportunities for officers who were not involved in the pursuit to review the pursuit, the policy, and provide input for training and policy revision. This is an excellent time to ensure that newer officers have a good grasp on our policy and how pursuit’s evolve”
